

Friday Painters in Hull

En plein artists have enjoyed a summer full of idyllic Friday mornings capturing the beauty of our local surroundings. With fall approaching our stalwart group is determined to keep on painting right through September. Mixed in the locations are seaside and historic spots, wide vistas and private gardens. It is organized so that we can take advantage of the morning light and finish in time not to get the afternoon burn. (9 am-12noon) Open and free to all, any level or ability. There are no instructions given, just bring your supplies and enjoy.

Hull Lifesaving Museum is open to artists for bathroom access on Fridays throughout our season. They also offer their grounds to the artists as a gathering spot afterward for lunch and conversation.

SCHEDULE THROUGH SEPTEMBER:

September 2 – Sunset Point Camp, 2 10th Street, Hull. Park along the Bay side of the street. You'll find views of the summer camp grounds, nearby houses, bay and marsh locations with the skyline of Boston in the distance.

September 9 – Bill Smyth's Deck, adjacent to Hull Yacht Club. Parking is available across the street on Nantasket Ave by the seawall. Capture the quieter off-season moments at the Hull Yacht Club, Spinnaker Island and vista views of Boston Light.

September 16 – Spinnaker Island Yacht Club Deck. A different perspective to capture Hull Village, Fort Revere Tower and the Hull Bay.

September 23 – Steamship Wharf, George Washington Blvd. Parking available by the picnic tables at dockside or by Nantasket Kayak Rental. Boatyard scenes of a variety of boats, moored and docked and the multi-colored kayak storage shed and the inside of Hull Bay.

September 30 – Fort Revere, Telegraph Hill – Panoramic views of Outer Boston Harbor and Boston Light, or turn just a few degrees to look back down the peninsula toward Allerton Hill or a few more clicks and you'll see A Street Pier in the distance. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fort_Revere
